

EurEta's Board in Brussels.

It is in the heart of the decision-making Europe, in Brussels, that EurEta's Board has held its meeting from November 30th to December 3rd.

This meeting has proved to be pivotal for the future of the Association and the higher engineering professions it represents. In fact, new perspectives have been discussed for its internal functioning as well as for its political development. Further more, an open dialogue has been started up with FEANI – whose General Secretariat in Brussels has been visited by our President, Vice-president and General Secretary - in order to check whether a European platform can be built together according to the new and interesting perspectives opened by the latest EU Directive on Professional Qualifications.
